The international remote conference on:

The digitalization of management in the time of the Corona virus
"between reality and issues"

Abstract:

The global Covid 19 pandemic has highlighted the inevitability of using digital mechanisms to change lived reality, especially in light of the health crisis, which has confirmed the inability of traditional management to cope with various challenges. Therefore, digital transformation was necessary to support public activity in various sectors, which requires several scientific and practical legislative requirements to overcome the many problems, the most important of which is to determine to what extent the digitalization of the administration helps to improve the work of the sectors and to develop their services in the face of the Corona virus.

In order to answer the problem, it is necessary to shed light on the digital needs of the administration and the means of activating it. This forum has been divided into five axes which combine the theoretical and practical framework of the digitization of administration in different sectors, the most important of which is the sector of higher education, health and justice, with horizons of openness between academic researchers, experts and actors in this field with the aim of highlighting the relationship between the repercussions of administrative digitization and the confrontation with the Corona virus and finding means and international and national legal mechanisms by extracting the most important effective strategies by countries in general and Algeria in particular to overcome this bet and achieve a new gain, which is digital administration .
